Notes on the Sophos SSL VPN Client

If you have issues with authentication, and/or have changed computer, you can re-download the client and reinstall it. That will give you a new connection. Just re-download and reinstall over the old one, you do not need to worry about uninstalling the previous version.

The Sophos SSL VPN Client is by default running in the system tray...:

If install multiple VPN client's under the same windows user, you will also get multiple connections. This could happen on computers where one username is used to log on, but multiple other usernames are used to connect to VPN.

See the next section for how to connect to a computer by Remote Desktop (RDP)
